

The Student Christian Movement of Canada (SCM) is seeking a Festival, Retreat and Resource Coordinator for a summer position, available to any student returning to fulltime study in September, between the ages of 18-30.

The SCM is a progressive network engaged in social justice and faith. We are a non-dogmatic community of diverse belief systems where faith and radical political action flourish.

The position is based in Toronto, ON, with some flexibility around work location. This position is made possible by funding through the Canada Summer Jobs program.

$15 per hour, 30 hours a week, 8 weeks - June 4 to July 27, 2018 (some date flexibility available)

Tasks and Responsibilities

1. Cahoots Festival follow up, feedback analysis and organization
2. SCM Fall Retreat logistics planning and coordination
3. Create study resource on a faith and justice priority topic
4. Other tasks (filing, writing) as assigned

More details available at www.scmcanada.org

We are looking for students who have:

- Understanding of the political and theological orientation of social justice and faith movements
- Experience or exposure to SCM's work on a national or regional level and/or experience in an organization with similar vision
- Interest in the Christian ecumenical movement and in working in such an organization.
- A commitment to working in an anti-oppressive framework, including anti-racist, feminist, and LGBTQIA2+ inclusive & affirming.
- The desire to develop skills in event planning, resource creation, and working with church communities & faith based organizations.

Application Instructions: Send a short letter (350 - 500 words) about your interest in the position and why you are suited for it, and tell us about yourself and your studies. Include a copy of your CV.

The SCM especially encourages applications from those who are Black, Indigenous, People of Colour, and a range of gender identity, sexual orientation, and ability. If you are comfortable doing so, please identify this in your application letter.
